  o Reminder that Graduate Faculty Membership Committee (GFMC) new process will begin October 1. A faculty vote from the program will be required. The new Vice Chair of the Graduate Council will chair the GFMC.

Old Business

- Chapter 9 status – message from Graves
  - More concrete updates will be presented in October meeting.
- Campaign of Welcome update – Marquart
  - Marquart discussed a productive meeting last spring with Ogilvie, and Weston. Marquart and Weston will meet with Bill Gutowski in LAS who was interested in working on the campaign.
  - Weston briefly explained the original purpose of the Campaign of Welcome, especially as it relates to welcoming international students upon their arrival to the U.S.

New Business

- Nominations for Vice-Chair of Graduate Council
  - Pam Riney-Kehrberg, nominated; Other nominations?
    - Riney-Kehrberg was the only member nominated and was approved 13-0.
    - This was followed by a short clarification on voting status. There may be future discussion about student and post-doc voting.
- Outside committee members, formation of committee and discussion
  - Lonergan identified interest from the Graduate College and the Associate Deans from the academic colleges in evaluating the purpose and current procedures for outside member participation. He identified the action items for this committee as defining the outside member role and reporting back an objective.
  - Lonergan mentioned the previously-reported idea that the Graduate College might think about having a roster of qualified outside members and assigning one to students.
  - Marquart noted 2.4.4 in the Graduate Faculty Handbook and questioned whether this decision about outside membership was in the purview of the Graduate Council.
  - Multiple members raised concerns about how they currently use the outside member and how that would change if the Graduate College assigned them.
  - Kaiser noted that the Statistics department was inundated with requests to serve as outside members when the Graduate College required outside members to be from different departments.
  - Questions were raised about when the requirements for outside membership changed re: outside member being outside the area of specialization rather than outside the department.
  - O’Connor spoke about differences in other institutions, such as there being separate directing and examining committees and the DOGE attending all defenses to evaluate rigor.
  - Gottesman brought up the number of people on a committee and suggested that faculty might be more involved in each committee if they were required to serve on fewer.
  - Bowler proposed that having an outside member outside the student’s department might ensure rigor because that faculty member would not have a vested interest in graduating students in his/her own field.
There was also discussion about how the Graduate College assigning an outside member may take away from of the independence students have in choosing their committees

- Request to review double degree programs – Graduate College
  - Lonergan relayed that the Graduate College has noticed some inconsistencies in the previously-approved programs and the policy in the Graduate College Handbook
  - Some discussion was had around the distinction between concurrent and double degrees, how many hours are required for each degree, and whether double degrees had to come from the pre-approved list
  - O’Neal asked whether students received two separate diplomas for double degrees, and it was verified that they do
  - The double degree subcommittee is charged with reporting on their findings and recommendations by the Oct. or Nov. meeting and having conclusions by Dec.

- Over-age course policy. Form committee to review and work with Graduate College staff to correct inconsistencies. Speer/Robinson
  - Speer presented a couple of cases of implementing the policy passed in Spring 2017 that led to some concerns about the policy. The Graduate College noticed logical inconsistencies in the policy and seeks guidance from the subcommittee for a modified policy proposal that will be consistent with the intent of the policy and more operational for the Graduate College

- Admission Policy Consideration. Proposal from Dean Graves
  - Lonergan indicated that the Graduate College is considering removing restricted and provisional admission status, Students with less than a 3.00 GPA could be admitted on full status if provisional and restricted status were eliminated, enabling the programs to set their own standards for admission
  - The Council discussed whether or not the TOEFL/English requirements were still part of the admissions process, and it was confirmed that English proficiency will still be required
  - The Executive Committee will report on this proposal in October

5:15 Committees
- English proficiency requirement – Deb Marquart, Pranav Shrotriya, Julie Bothell
  - Marquart found a colleague who runs a committee called EPEC, formerly chaired by Holger.
  - This subcommittee plans to meet with EPEC and discuss this requirement/change
  - Gottesman expressed concern about whether this committee makes policy that affects graduate students. If so, the changes should be brought before the Graduate Council.

Lonergan
